Closing a Business Checklist

An annual return must be filed for the final year of business. If the business has employees, final employment tax returns must also be filed, as well as deposits made. Also attach a statement to the return showing the name of the person keeping the payroll records and the address where those records will be kept.

Checkboxes. For the tax year in which the business ceases to exist, check the box on page 1 of the entity's tax return that indicates this return is the final return. If there are Schedule K-1s, check the final return box on each one of them as well.

Cancelling an Employer Identification Number (EIN) — Closing an Account

Once an EIN has been assigned to a business entity, it becomes the permanent federal taxpayer identification number for that entity. Regardless of whether the EIN is ever used to file federal tax returns, the EIN is never reused or reassigned to another business entity.

The IRS cannot cancel an entity's EIN. However, if a business entity received an EIN but later determines it is not needed, the IRS can close the business account. The EIN will still belong to the business entity and can be used at a later date, should the need arise.

Closing an account. To close a business account, write to the IRS at: Internal Revenue Service, Cincinnati, OH, 45999 and state the reason for closing the account. If possible, include a copy of the EIN Assignment Notice with the request. Otherwise, be sure to include the complete legal name of the entity, the EIN, and the business address. All appropriate tax returns must be filed before the IRS will close the account.

Sale of Business Assets

The sale of a business usually is not a sale of one asset. Instead, all the assets of the business are sold. Generally, when this occurs, each asset is treated as being sold separately for determining the treatment of gain or loss.

A business usually has many assets. When sold, these assets must be classified as capital assets, depreciable property used in the business, real property used in the business, or property held for sale to customers, such as inventory or stock-in-trade. The gain or loss on each asset is calculated separately. The sale of capital assets results in capital gain or loss. The sale of real property or depreciable property used in the business and held longer than one year results in gain or loss from a section 1231 transaction. The sale of inventory results in ordinary income or loss.

Trade or business. A group of assets constitutes a trade or business if either of the following applies.

- · Goodwill or going concern value could, under any circumstances, attach to them, or
- The use of the assets would constitute an active trade or business under IRC section 355(b).

The following are factors to be considered in determining whether goodwill or going concern value could attach. [Reg. §1.1060-1(b)(2)]

- The presence of any intangible assets. However, the transfer of such an asset in the absence of other assets is not a trade or business,
- The total consideration paid exceeds the purchaser's book value of the assets (other than goodwill and going concern value), and
- The sale includes a license, lease agreement, covenant-not-tocompete, or other similar agreement between the purchaser and seller in connection with the transfer.

Example #1: Larry sells Sue and Mary one of his old carpet cleaning machines and some cleaning supplies so that Sue and Mary can start a carpet cleaning business. Larry continues to operate his carpet cleaning business with other equipment. Even though the purchase of the machine and supplies is a major portion of the cost for Sue and Mary to start up their business, it does not constitute a sale of a trade or business because there were no intangible assets sold, and Larry continues to operate his business.

Example #2: Assume the same facts as Example #1, except that Larry also sells his customer list for a price and discontinues his business. The group of assets sold to Sue and Mary makes up a trade or business because the customer list is an intangible asset and its value represents the goodwill in Larry's carpet cleaning business.

Corporate liquidations. Corporate liquidations of property generally are treated as a sale or exchange. Gain or loss generally is recognized by the corporation on a liquidating sale of its assets. Gain or loss is also generally recognized on a liquidating distribution of assets as if the corporation sold the assets to the distributee at fair market value. See Corporate Liquidations, page 18-22.

Allocation of consideration paid for a business. The sale of a trade or business for a lump sum is considered a sale of each individual asset rather than of a single asset. Except for assets exchanged under any nontaxable exchange rules, both the buyer and seller of a business must use the residual method to allocate the consideration to each business asset transferred. This method determines gain or loss from the transfer of each asset and how much of the consideration is for goodwill and certain other intangible property. It also determines the buyer's basis in the business assets.

Consideration. The buyer's consideration is the cost of the assets acquired. The seller's consideration is the amount realized, money plus the fair market value of property received, from the sale of assets.

Residual method. The residual method must be used for any transfer of a group of assets that constitutes a trade or business and for which the buyer's basis is determined only by the amount paid for the assets. This applies to both direct and indirect transfers.

The residual method provides for the consideration to be reduced first by the amount of Class I assets. The consideration remaining after this reduction must be allocated among the various business assets in a certain order. See Classes of Assets, below.

Asset Acquisition Statement

Form 8594, Asset Acquisition Statement Under Section 1060.

Both the seller and buyer of a group of assets that makes up a trade or business must use Form 8594 to report such a sale if goodwill or going concern value attaches, or could attach, to the assets of the business, and if the buyer's basis in the assets is determined only by the amount paid for the assets.

When to file. Unless one of the exceptions below applies, the seller and buyer must file identical Forms 8594 and attach to Forms 1040, 1041, 1065, 1120, 1120-S, or any other business entity form in the year of sale. This applies whether the group of assets constitutes a trade or business in the hands of the seller, the buyer, or both. This also applies if a portion of the selling price is under an installment sales contract. If the amount allocated to any asset is increased or decreased after the year of sale, the seller and/or buyer (whoever is affected) must complete Parts I and III of Form 8594 and attach the form to the income tax return for the year in which the increase or decrease is taken into account.

Exceptions: The filing of Form 8594 is not required if either of the following apply.

- A group of assets that makes up a trade or business is exchanged for like-kind property in a section 1031 like-kind exchange. However, if section 1031 does not apply to all the assets transferred, Form 8594 is required for the part of the group of assets to which section 1031 does not apply, or
- An interest in a partnership is transferred to a new partner.

Penalty. A $330 penalty may apply under IRC section 6721 if either the seller or buyer fails to file Form 8594. Exceptions apply for reasonable cause.

Classes of Assets

Each asset in the group of assets reported on Form 8594, Asset Acquisition Statement Under Section 1060, must be categorized into one of seven classes of assets. The consideration must be allocated among the assets in the following order and, other than Class VII assets, the amount allocated to each asset cannot exceed its fair market value on the purchase date.

| Asset Class | Includes   |
|--------------------|--|
| Class I            | Cash and general deposit accounts (including checking and savings accounts) but not certificates of deposit.   |
| Class II           | Certificates of deposit, U.S. Government securities, for-eign currency, and actively traded personal property,including stock and securities.                              |
| Class III          | Accounts receivable, other debt instruments, and assets that the taxpayer marks-to-market at least annually for federal income tax purposes. See Form 8594 for certain exceptions. |
| Class IV           | Inventory or property held by the taxpayer primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of business.   |
| Class V            | Assets not classified elsewhere. Generally includes furniture and fixtures, buildings, land, vehicles, and equipment, which constitute all or part of a business.                  |
| Class VI           | Section 197 intangibles other than goodwill and going concern value. See Intangible Assets , page 9-13.   |
| Class VII          | Goodwill and going concern value.  |

If an asset can be included in more than one class, include it in the lower numbered class. For example, if an asset is described in both Class II and Class IV, choose Class II. Agreement. The buyer and seller may enter into a written agreement as to the allocation of any consideration or the fair market value of any of the assets. This agreement is binding on both parties unless the IRS determines the amounts are not appropriate.

Reporting requirement. Both the buyer and seller involved in the sale of business assets must report to the IRS the allocation of the sales price among Section 197 intangibles and the other business assets. See Asset Acquisition Statement, previous column.

Buyer vs. Seller

The seller and buyer of a business must come to an agreement as to the value placed upon each class of asset. Often the value placed on the various assets can be a point of contention between the two parties. See the TaxTreatment for Sellers and Buyers chart, page 28-1.

Buyer's classification. Buyers generally want the majority of the purchase price allocated to inventory so that it can be expensed when it is sold. Buyers will want minimal value allocated to:

- Land as it is not a depreciable asset,
- Buildings and equipment because the longer depreciable life of these assets will be slower to offset income, and
- Goodwill and other intangibles as these also are amortized over a number of years.

Seller's classification. Sellers will likely prefer the majority of the value be allocated to buildings and equipment, which generally receive capital gain treatment. Sellers will want minimal amounts allocated to inventory and non-compete agreements which are taxed at ordinary income rates.

Sale of Stock vs. Sale of Assets

Sale of stock. The sale of a corporation can be as simple as selling the stock. The seller would benefit if the stock is sold because the seller would receive capital gain treatment on the sale. However, purchasing the stock means the buyer is purchasing an existing entity along with any liabilities it may have, including any unknown liabilities of the corporation at the time of purchase.

Sale of assets. The buyer might want to consider purchasing the assets of the corporation and forming a new corporation rather than purchasing the stock of the existing corporation. Purchasing the assets allows the buyer to depreciate or amortize the cost of the assets, whereas the cost of stock is capitalized until sold. If the seller agrees to sell the assets of the corporation rather than its stock, the corporation reports gain or loss on each asset sold. Cash from the sale is then distributed to shareholders when the corporation is liquidated.

C corporation. For a C corporation, tax issues are the main reason for the seller's preference for selling stock instead of selling assets. If the assets of a C corporation are sold instead of stock, the sale can essentially be taxed twice. The first tax occurs when selling assets to the buyer. The corporation will pay tax on the value of the assets over the existing basis of the assets. Second, when the corporation is liquidated, the individual pays personal capital gain tax on the excess of the net proceeds of the sale, over his or her existing basis in the stock.

S corporation. When an S corporation sells assets, it does not pay tax on any gain realized through the sale. Instead, the gains of the corporation flow through to the shareholders. Sale of assets which generate a capital gain are passed on to the shareholders as a capital gain. Ordinary income is passed on to the shareholders as ordinary income. Gain recognized at the corporate level and passed through to the shareholders will increase the basis in the corporation for each shareholder. This reduces the gain on the liquidating distribution that will occur after the sale of assets.

Non-Tax Issues

There are concerns other than tax-related issues that need to be taken into consideration when buying or selling a corporation.

- With a stock sale, any unknown liabilities the company may have are transferred to the new owner. With an asset sale, the liabilities would remain with the seller. Some examples include future product liability claims, contract claims, lawsuits by employees, pension or benefit plan liabilities.
- If the corporation has a good credit rating, the buyer may want to buy the stock instead of buying the assets.
- · Contracts such as leases, supply contracts, or employment contracts may have been written between the corporation and a third party. It may be easier for the buyer to maintain these contracts with a stock purchase than it would be to negotiate contracts as a new entity.
- A change of accounting method is generally not allowed when purchasing stock in a corporation.
- Retitling shares of stock purchased through a business sale may require less paperwork and lower costs than retitling each asset if assets are purchased separately.
- Permits and licenses owned by a corporation remain intact when a corporation is sold through a stock sale. An asset sale requires the new owner to reapply for permits and licenses.

Self-Employment Tax—Sale of Business

Self-employed taxpayers are subject to self-employment tax on the ordinary income derived from carrying on a trade or business. If a self-employed individual goes out of business and sells a group of assets that make up his or her trade or business, the ordinary income from the sale may or may not be subject to selfemployment tax.

Not subject to self-employment (SE) tax. The following items are not subject to SE tax.

Capital assets. Gain or loss from the disposition of a capital asset is not taken into account in calculating SE tax. This includes the portion of the gain that represents depreciation recapture on the sale of equipment and other depreciable assets. This also includes depreciation recapture on the disposition of property expensed under Section 179.

Termination agreements. Payments received in exchange for a covenant not-to-compete are considered ordinary income. Payments derived from the cessation of a business activity are not subject to SE tax. (Robert E. Milligan, 9th Cir., October 25, 1994)

Subject to self-employment (SE) tax. If the taxpayer keeps any depreciable asset expensed under Section 179 after going out of business, and uses the asset 50% or more for personal purposes before the MACRS recovery period is up for that asset, Section 179 must be recaptured to the extent it exceeds depreciation under regular MACRS, and such recaptured amount is subject to SE tax. If the asset is listed property, Section 179 is recaptured to the extent it exceeds depreciation under straight-line depreciation using the ADS life.

Author's Comment: Gain from the sale of inventory sold in the normal course of a trade or business is taxed as ordinary income and is also subject to SE tax for self-employed taxpayers. However, there are conflicting opinions about treatment of inventory as part of the sale of a business. Some publications use reasoning similar to the Milligan court case, see Termination agreements, previous column, that gains resulting from cessation of a business are not part of the normal course of a trade or business and are therefore not subject to selfemployment tax. Such treatment would report the sale of inventory included with other assets making up a business on Form 4797, Sales of Business Property, with the gain being reported as ordinary income, but not subject to SE tax.

We disagree. In defining net earnings from self-employment, IRC section 1402(a)(3) states, in part, "there shall be excluded any gain or loss...(C) from the sale, exchange, involuntary conversion, or other disposition of property if such property is neither (i) stock in trade or other property which would be includible in inventory if on hand at the close of the taxable year, nor (ii) property held primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of the trade or business." (IRC §1402)

Based on the above provision, upon the sale of a business, inventory should be included in cost of goods sold, and gain on the sale of the inventory should be reported as ordinary income subject to SE tax.

Partnership—Sale of Business

The sale or exchange of an interest in a partnership is treated as a capital asset when sold. The part of any gain or loss from unrealized receivables or inventory items will be treated as ordinary gain or loss. See Partnership—Sale of Business Example, page 28-9.

Not all sales or exchanges of a partnership interest will trigger termination of the partnership. For more information, see Terminating a Partnership, page 20-19.

Sale of Business Examples

The following examples illustrate how the sale of a business is reported on the tax return of the seller and the buyer. Each example assumes a business owned for 21/2 years.

C Corporation—Sale of Business Example

Greener Pastures, Inc. The two owners of Greener Pastures, Inc., are Nate, who owns 55% of the stock, and Tyler, who owns 45% of the stock. They started operation as a business on April 1, 2021. After being profitable for 2½ years, a buyer by the name of Sam approached them on October 1, 2023, with an offer, and both Nate and Tyler decide to sell.

Sale of stock. Nate and Tyler (the sellers) would prefer to sell their stock. If Nate and Tyler sell their stock, they would receive long-term capital gain treatment with a maximum tax rate of 20% on the gain. They would also avoid double tax since the sale of assets inside a C corporation is taxed once at the corporate level and a second time upon liquidation of the shareholder's stock. Nate and Tyler also want to delay the sale until after the first of the year to defer gain one more year.

Sale of assets. Sam (the buyer) would prefer to purchase the equipment, inventory, customer list, and a covenant not-to-compete from Greener Pastures, Inc. and start up his own corporation with the assets purchased. Sam wants to be able to depreciate the assets purchased at his cost. He also does not want to be subject to any hidden liabilities that Greener Pastures, Inc. may have, such as assumption of product liabilities from the sale of inventory or potential lawsuits associated with the services that were offered to customers. Sam would also like to purchase the assets before the end of the year to be able to use the Section 179 deduction on the equipment and furniture in 2023 rather than wait until 2024.

Terms of the sales agreement. They agree to compromise and sell all the assets, not including the cash, to Sam. The sale will take place on January 2, 2024, prior to the conduct of any business during the new year. Sam will purchase all the tangible and intangible assets of Greener Pastures, Inc. for $130,000 and pay 40% down ($52,000 cash), with the remaining 60% paid over five years, with a balloon payment for the balance due on December 2, 2029 ($78,000 installment note at 5% annual interest). They agree to allocate $40,000 of the purchase price to a covenant not-to-compete. Any liabilities of Greener Pastures, Inc. remain with Greener Pastures. The corporation will pay off liabilities with cash received from the down payment and then liquidate by distributing the remaining cash and installment note to Nate and Tyler on January 31, 2024.

The high 40% down payment is necessary for several reasons.

- For tax purposes, gain that represents ordinary income (inventory, depreciation recapture, and covenant not-to-compete) must be recognized in the year of sale rather than under the installment method even though actual payment is received in future years. Only the gain representing capital gain can be recognized under the installment method for tax purposes. Therefore, the down payment needs to be high enough to cover the tax liability that cannot be deferred under the installment method.
- The buyer is not assuming any of the corporate liabilities, thus the down payment needs to be high enough so that the corporation has the cash to pay off its liabilities.
- The corporation will need enough cash to pay off the shareholder who is only receiving cash upon liquidation and not the installment note (see Installment note, page 28-6, for reasoning).

Balance sheet prior to sale. As of January 2, 2024, Greener Pastures, Inc. has the following balance sheet per books, per tax, and per fair market value (FMV), prior to the sale.

| Assets:                               | Per Books    |           |           |

| Inventory                             | 8,500        | 8,500     | 14,600    |

Form 8594. Form 8594, Asset Acquisition Statement Under Section 1060, Part II, must be filed by both the buyer and the seller as follows.

| Total all classes of assets  | $130,000 |
| * The corporation cash is not part of the sale; therefore, it is not | reported  | on Form 8594.

Allocation of sales price. Form 8594, Part II, asks for the aggregate fair market value (FMV) of each class of asset and the allocation of sales price for each class of asset. In this example, these two amounts are the same. If the sales price was greater than, or less than the FMV of the combined group of assets that make up the sale, then an allocation of the sales price is required.

To illustrate, assume in this example the total sales price is $150,000 instead of $130,000, even though the FMV of all assets equals $130,000. An allocation of the sales price must be made to determine the buyer's basis in each acquired asset and the seller's gain or loss on the transfer of each asset. The residual method for the allocation of the sales price must be used. The amount allocated to an asset, other than a Class VII asset (goodwill), cannot exceed its FMV on the purchase date. In other words, any excess over FMV must be allocated to Class VII (goodwill).

Allocate the sales price to Class I assets first, up to FMV. Then allocate the remaining consideration to Class II assets, then to Class III, IV, V, and VI assets in that order, not to exceed FMV in any class of assets. The remaining sales price is allocated to Class VII assets, even if it exceeds the combined FMV of all Class VII assets.

In this example, if the sales price was $150,000 rather than $130,000, the allocation to each class would be the same as above, except that goodwill (Class VII) would be $76,000 instead of $56,000.

Footnotes:

- The $78,000 portion of the sale represents an installment note. $56,000 (the capital gain portion) would generally not be recognized as income until payments are received under the installment method. However, in this example, the installment note is distributed to one of the shareholders upon liquidation. Thus, the corporation does not report any of it under the installment method and pays tax on all of it in 2024 because the installment note is treated as if it were sold for cash. See Installment note, next column.
- <sup>2</sup> These are expenses incurred by the corporation after the sale of its assets and prior to the final liquidating distributions to its shareholders, such as legal, accounting, tax preparation, and office expenses.
- <sup>3</sup> Organizational costs and start-up costs were expensed in the first year for tax purposes and capitalized for book purposes. Since they no longer have any value when the corporation is liquidated, they are written off the books for book purposes.
- <sup>4</sup> Federal income tax is a deduction for book purposes only.

Cash flow. The corporation cash flow for 2024 is as follows:

| 1/1/24 cash on hand                                     | $100,000   |

included in the sale. Thus, the cash stays with the corporation.

Balance sheet after sale. After the sale to Sam on January 2, 2024, and after corporation liabilities and miscellaneous administrative expenses are paid, Greener Pastures, Inc. has the following balance sheet per books prior to the final liquidation of the corporation on January 31, 2024.

Liquidation. Upon the final liquidation of the corporation, there are two assets: \$104,844 of cash and the installment note of \$78,000, for a total of \$182,844 available for distribution. Nate owns 55% of the outstanding stock and is entitled to \$100,564 (\$182,844 × 55%). Tyler owns 45% of the outstanding stock and is entitled to  $$82,280 ($182,844 \times 45\%).$

Form 966. The corporation must file Form 966, Corporate Dissolution or Liquidation, within 30 days after the corporation adopts its plan to liquidate. For more information on Form 966 and corporate liquidations, see Corporate Liquidations, page 18-22.

Form 1099-DIV. The corporation must issue Form 1099-DIV, Dividends and Distributions, to the shareholders when it distributes the cash and the installment note to the shareholders upon liquidation. Cash distributed to the shareholders is reported in box 9, and noncash distributed (the installment note) is reported in box 10.

Installment note. If cash was the only remaining asset, it would be simple to liquidate the corporation. The installment note may be difficult to split from a legal perspective. The terms of the note could be written so that Sam, the buyer, makes two separate payments each month, one to Nate and one to Tyler. Or, the corporation could remain open for five years until Sam makes the final payment, then liquidate the corporation and distribute the cash. Or, the corporation could distribute cash, plus the installment note to one shareholder and cash to the other shareholder.

The problem with leaving the corporation open for the five years it takes to collect on the installment note is the corporation could be subject to personal holding company tax rules. A C corporation that only receives investment income and has no income from the operation of a business could be subject to the PHC tax. See Personal Holding Company (PHC), page 18-19.

In this example, assume Nate agrees to take the $78,000 installment note plus $22,564 cash for his $100,564 liquidation proceeds. Tyler receives a liquidating cash distribution of $82,280.

Nate's tax return. Nate received the installment note from the liquidating corporation. $56,000 out of the $78,000 installment note qualifies for installment method reporting on Form 6252, Installment Sale Income, (the ordinary income from the covenant notto-compete does not qualify for installment method treatment).

Use of installment method by shareholders in certain liquidations. Nate does not recognize gain on the installment method portion of the liquidation until payments are received from the installment note [IRC §453(h)]. This rule only applies if the installment note is acquired in respect of a sale or exchange by the corporation during the 12-month period beginning on the date a plan of complete liquidation is adopted, and the liquidation is completed during such 12-month period. This is true even though the corporation had to recognize gain at the time the installment note was given to Nate in exchange for his stock.

This rule requires Nate to allocate his basis in the stock among the two assets received (the installment method portion of the note and the cash plus ordinary income portion of the installment note). As a 55% shareholder, Nate's basis in his C corporation stock was $55,000 prior to liquidation. The $22,564 of cash plus $22,000 of the installment note that represents ordinary income (the covenant not-to-compete portion) totals $44,564. The other $18,000 of the covenant not-to-compete was part of the $52,000 down payment that the corporation received in cash on January 2, 2024. The $44,564 amount represents 44% of Nate's total distribution. 44% of his $55,000 basis equals $24,200 ($55,000 × 44%). He reports $44,564 gross proceeds from the liquidation of his stock on Form 8949, Sales and Other Dispositions of Capital Assets, with a basis of $24,200. These numbers then flow through to Schedule D (Form 1040) to compute a long-term capital gain of $20,364.

Nate also begins to receive payments from Sam on the installment note during the rest of 2024. He reports the interest portion of each payment on his Schedule B (Form 1040). The principal portion of each payment is reported on Form 6252, Installment Sale Income. His basis in the installment note is \$52,800 (\$55,000 - \$24,200 + \$22,000). His gross profit in the installment note is \$25,200 (\$78,000 -\$52,800 basis). His gross profit percentage equals 32.31% (\$25,200 ÷ \$78,000). Assume that during the rest of 2024, Nate received \$3,278 in principal and \$3,507 in interest from Sam. The gain calculated on his Form 6252 that is carried to Schedule D (Form 1040) is \$1,059 ( $$3,278 \times 32.31\%$ ). He also reports interest income on Schedule B in the amount of \$3,507.

Check Nate's calculations. Once Nate receives $78,000 of total payments on the installment note, Nate will have reported total gain of $25,202 on Form 6252 ($78,000 × 32.31%). Add that to the $20,364 of gain reported on Schedule D upon liquidation, and his total gain equals $45,566 ($25,202 + $20,364). Nate's 55% share of the corporation assets at the time of liquidation equals $100,564 ($182,844 × 55%). His total gain is $45,564 ($100,564 minus $55,000 stock basis). The $2 difference is due to rounding percentages.

Tyler's tax return. Tyler received a $82,280 cash liquidating distribution in exchange for his stock. His basis in the stock was $45,000. Tyler reports the gain on Form 8949, Sales and Other Dispositions of Capital Assets, which is then carried to Schedule D (Form 1040) and lists $82,280 as gross proceeds, with $45,000 as basis for a long-term capital gain of $37,280.

Sam's tax return. Since Sam is purchasing the assets from Greener Pastures, Inc. and not its stock, Sam treats the purchase of each asset on his tax return no different than any other purchase of business assets.

| Purchase of inventory   | $14,600              |
|---|-----------------------|
| Sam reports this amount on the "purchases" line of the cost of goods sold section on his tax return.  |                       |
| Purchase of equipment, furnishings, etc   | $19,400              |
| He can elect to expense the entire amount under Section 179 in 2024 or depreciate the amount over seven years under MACRS. The depreciation method and amount claimed in prior years by the seller is irrelevant.   | 9                     |

S Corporation—Sale of Business Example

Greener Pastures, Inc. The two owners of Greener Pastures, Inc., are Nate, who owns 55% of the stock, and Tyler, who owns 45% of the stock. They started operation as a business on April 1, 2021. After being profitable for 2½ years, a buyer by the name of Sam approached them on October 1, 2023, with an offer, and both Nate and Tyler decide to sell.

Terms of the sales agreement. Nate and Tyler agree to sell all the assets, not including the cash, to Sam. The sale will take place on January 2, 2024, prior to the conduct of any business during the new year. Sam will purchase all the tangible and intangible assets of Greener Pastures, Inc. for $130,000 and pay 40% down ($52,000 cash), with the remaining 60% paid over five years, with a balloon payment for the balance due on December 2, 2029 ($78,000 installment note at 5% annual interest). They agree to allocate $40,000 of the purchase price to a covenant not-to-compete. Any liabilities of Greener Pastures, Inc. remain with Greener Pastures. The corporation will pay off liabilities with cash received from the down payment and then liquidate by distributing the remaining cash and installment note to Nate and Tyler on January 31, 2024.

Installment note—S corporations. The difference between the C corporation example and the S corporation example is that the S corporation does not recognize gain when it distributes the installment note upon liquidation [IRC §453B(h)]. The installment obligation must have been acquired by the S corporation during the 12-month period beginning on the date a plan of complete liquidation was adopted, and the liquidation must be completed within that 12-month period. The shareholder reports gain as payments are received on the installment obligation.

Sale of other assets. In the C corporation example, the C corporation paid tax on the sale of its assets to Sam. In this example, the S corporation passes the gain on the sale of its assets through to the shareholders.

Balance sheet prior to sale. For the S corporation example, the balance sheet per books and the balance sheet per tax are the same since the depreciation and amortization deductions are identical. As of January 2, 2024, Greener Pastures, Inc. has the following balance sheet prior to the sale.

| Assets:                                  | Book & Tax FMV       |

* The $56,000 capital gain portion of the installment note is not recognized as income until payments are received under the installment method. Since the S corporation does not recognize income when it distributes the installment note to the shareholders upon liquidation, the S corporation income statement does not record it as income. However, only capital gains qualify for installment method reporting. The covenant notto-compete is ordinary income; therefore, that portion of the installment note must be reported as income in the year of sale.

Cash flow. The corporation cash flow for 2024 is as follows.

| 1/1/24 cash on hand  | . $100,000 |

Balance sheet after sale. After the sale to Sam on January 2, 2024, and after corporation liabilities and miscellaneous administrative expenses are paid, Greener Pastures, Inc. has the following balance sheet per books prior to the final liquidation of the corporation on January 31, 2024.

| Assets:                            | Per Books |
| Cash                               | $137,050 |

| Total assets                       | $215,050 |
| Liabilities:                       |           |
| Deferred income – installment note | $ 56,000 |
| Total liabilities                  | $ 56,000 |
| Equity:                            |           |
| Common stock                       | $100,000 |
| Current earnings                   | 56,058    |
| Retained earnings                  | 2,992     |
| Total equity                       |           |
| Total liabilities + equity         |           |

Liquidation. Upon the final liquidation of the corporation, there are two assets; \$137,050 of cash and the installment note of \$78,000, for a total of \$215,050 available for distribution. Nate owns 55% of the outstanding stock and is entitled to \$118,278 (\$215,050  $\times$ 55%). Tyler owns 45% of the outstanding stock and is entitled to 96,772 ( $215,050 \times 45\%$ ). In this example, assume Nate agrees to take the \$78,000 installment note plus \$40,278 cash for his \$118,278 liquidation proceeds. Tyler receives a liquidating cash distribution of \$96,772.

Form 966. The corporation must file Form 966, Corporate Dissolution or Liquidation, within 30 days after the corporation adopts its plan to liquidate. For more information on Form 966 and corporate liquidations, see Corporate Liquidations, page 18-22.

Form 1099-DIV. The corporation must issue Form 1099-DIV, Dividends and Distributions, to the shareholders when it distributes the cash and the installment note to the shareholders upon liquidation. Cash distributed to the shareholders is reported in box 9, and noncash distributed (the installment note) is reported in box 10.

Nate's tax return. Nate received the installment note from the liquidating corporation. $56,000 out of the $78,000 installment note qualifies for installment method reporting on Form 6252, Installment Sale Income. The installment sale rule requires Nate to allocate his basis in the stock among the two assets received (the installment method portion of the note and the cash plus ordinary income portion of the installment note). See Use of installment method by shareholders in certain liquidations, page 28-6.

As an S corporation shareholder, Nate's basis in stock equals the initial cash contribution he made on April 1, 2021, of \$55,000, plus or minus all Schedule K-1 items of income or loss since that date, minus distributions. Assume Nate's stock basis as of December 31, 2023, equals \$56,646. His 2024 Schedule K-1 allocates \$30,832 to him ( $$56,058 \times 55\%$ ), for a total basis prior to liquidation of \$87,478.

The $40,278 of cash plus $22,000 of the installment note that represents ordinary income (the covenant not-to-compete portion) totals $62,278. The other $18,000 of the covenant not-to-compete was part of the $52,000 down payment that the corporation received in cash on January 2, 2024. The $62,278 amount represents 53% of Nate's total distribution. 53% of his $87,478 basis equals $46,363 ($87,478 × 53%). He reports $62,278 gross proceeds from the liquidation of his stock on Form 8949, Sales and Other Dispositions of Capital Assets, with a basis of $46,363. These numbers then flow through to Schedule D (Form 1040) to compute a long-term capital gain of $15,915.

Nate also begins to receive payments from Sam on the installment note during the rest of 2024. He reports the interest portion of each payment on his Schedule B (Form 1040). The principal portion of each payment is reported on Form 6252, Installment Sale Income. His basis in the installment note is $63,115 ($87,478 minus $46,363 plus $22,000). His gross profit in the installment note is $14,885 ($78,000 - $63,115 basis). His gross profit percentage equals 19.08% ($14,885 ÷ $78,000). Assume that during the rest of 2024, Nate received $3,278 in principal and $3,507 in interest from Sam. The gain calculated on his Form 6252 that is carried to Schedule D (Form 1040) is $625 ($3,278 × 19.08%). He also reports interest income on Schedule B in the amount of $3,507.

| Allocation of Nate's Liquidation Distribution  |            |                     |   |      |

| Total  | $40,278   | $78,000            | $118,278                               | 100% |

Check Nate's calculations. Once Nate receives \$78,000 of total payments on the installment note, he will have reported total gain of \$14,885 on Form 6252. Add that to the \$15,915 gain reported on Schedule D upon liquidation, and his total gain equals \$30,800 (\$14,885 + \$15,915). Nate's 55% share of the corporation at the time of liquidation equals \$118,278 (\$215,050  $\times$  55%). His total gain is \$30,800 (\$118,278 - \$87,478 stock basis).

Filled in tax forms. See the filled in tax forms starting on page 28-16 for the S corporation and Nate's tax returns filed as a result of the scenario described in this example.

Partnership—Sale of Business Example

Greener Pastures Partnership. The two owners of Greener Pastures are Nate, who owns 55% of the partnership, and Tyler, who owns 45% of the partnership. They started operation as a business on April 1, 2021. After being profitable for 2½ years, a buyer by the name of Sam approached them on October 1, 2023, with an offer, and both Nate and Tyler decide to sell.

Terms of the sales agreement. Nate and Tyler agree to sell all the assets, not including the cash, to Sam. The sale will take place on January 2, 2024, prior to the conduct of any business during the new year. Sam will purchase all the tangible and intangible assets of Greener Pastures Partnership for $130,000 and pay 40% down ($52,000 cash), with the remaining 60% paid over five years with a balloon payment for the balance due on December 2, 2029 ($78,000 installment note at 5% annual interest). They agree to allocate $40,000 of the purchase price to a covenant not-to-compete. Any liabilities of Greener Pastures as a partnership remain with Greener Pastures. The partnership will pay off liabilities with cash received from the down payment and then terminate by distributing the remaining cash and installment note to Nate and Tyler on January 31, 2024.

Installment note. The partnership example is similar to the S corporation example. The installment note is transferred to Nate at no gain to the partnership upon termination [IRC §731(b)]. Nate recognizes gain as he receives payments from the installment note. Assume all other facts used in the following partnership example are the same as the S corporation example.

Balance sheet prior to sale. As of January 2, 2024, Greener Pastures has the following balance sheet prior to the sale.

* The $56,000 capital gain portion of the installment note is not recognized as income until payments are received under the installment method. Since the partnership does not recognize income when it distributes the installment note to the partners upon termination, the partnership income statement does not record it as income. However, only capital gains qualify for installment method reporting. The covenant not-to-compete is ordinary income, therefore, that portion of the installment note must be reported as income in the year of sale.

Cash flow. The partnership cash flow for 2024 is as follows.

Termination. Upon the termination of the partnership, there are two assets; \$137,050 of cash and the installment note of \$78,000, for a total of \$215,050 available for distribution. Nate owns 55% of the partnership and is entitled to \$118,278 ( $$215,050 \times 55\%$ ). Tyler owns 45% of the partnership and is entitled to \$96,772 (\$215,050 × 45%). In this example, assume Nate agrees to take the \$78,000 installment note plus \$40,278 cash for his \$118,278 total proceeds. Tyler receives a final cash distribution of \$96,772.

Nate's tax return. Nate received the installment note from the terminating partnership. $56,000 out of the $78,000 installment note qualifies for installment method reporting on Form 6252, Installment Sale Income. The installment sale rule requires Nate to allocate his basis in the partnership among the two assets received (the installment method portion of the note and the cash plus ordinary income portion of the installment note). See Use of installment method by shareholders in certain liquidations, page 28-6.

As a partner, Nate's basis equals the initial cash contribution he made on April 1, 2021, of $55,000, plus or minus all Schedule K-1 items of income or loss since that date, minus distributions. Assume Nate's basis as of December 31, 2023, equals $56,646. His 2024 Schedule K-1 allocates $30,832 to him ($56,058 × 55%), for a total basis prior to termination of $87,478.

The \$40,278 of cash plus \$22,000 of the installment note that represents ordinary income (the covenant not-to-compete portion) totals \$62,278. The other \$18,000 of the covenant not-to-compete was part of the \$52,000 down payment that the partnership received in cash on January 2, 2024. The \$62,278 amount represents 53% of Nate's total distribution. 53% of his \$87,478 basis equals 46,363 ( $87,478 \times 53\%$ ). He reports 62,278 gross proceeds from the liquidation of his partnership interest on Form 8949, Sales and Other Dispositions of Capital Assets, with a basis of \$46,363. These numbers then flow through to Schedule D (Form 1040) to compute a long-term capital gain of \$15,915.

Nate also begins to receive payments from Sam on the installment note during the rest of 2024. He reports the interest portion of each payment on his Schedule B (Form 1040). The principal portion of each payment is reported on Form 6252, Installment Sale Income. His basis in the installment note is \$63,115 (\$87,478 – \$46,363 + \$22,000). His gross profit in the installment note is \$14,885 (\$78,000 -\$63,115 basis). His gross profit percentage equals 19.08% (\$14,885 ÷ \$78,000). Assume that during the rest of 2024, Nate received \$3,278 in principal and \$3,507 in interest from Sam. The gain calculated on his Form 6252 that is carried to Schedule D (Form 1040) is \$625 (\$3,278  $\times$  19.08%). He also reports interest income on Schedule B in the amount of \$3,507.

Allocation of Nate's Final Distribution

| Distribution Proceeds                            | Cash     | InstallmentNote | TotalDistribution | %    |
|--|----------|---------------------|-----------------------|------|
| Allocable to liquidation of partnership interest | $40,278 | $22,000            | $ 62,278             | 53%  |
| Allocable to installment note                    | $ 0     | $56,000            | $ 56,000             | 47%  |
| Total  | $40,278 | $78,000            | $118,278             | 100% |

Allocation of Nate's basis:

| 12/31/2023 partnership basis                       | $56,646          |
|--|-------------------|
| 2024 Schedule K-1 allocation                       | 30,832            |
| Basis prior to liquidation                         | 87,478 |
| Allocation %                                       | 53%               |
| Basis for partnership interest                     | $ 46,363  |
| Basis prior to liquidation                         | $87,478          |
| Less basis for liquidation of partnership interest | (46,363)          |
| Plus covenant not-to-compete portion               | 22,000            |
| Basis for installment sale                         | $ 63,115  |

Check Nate's calculations. Once Nate receives \$78,000 of total payments on the installment note, he will have reported total gain of \$14,885 on Form 6252. Add that to the \$15,915 gain reported on Schedule D upon liquidation, and his total gain equals \$30,800 (\$14,885 + \$15,915). Nate's 55% share of the partnership at the time of liquidation equals \$118,278 ( $$215,050 \times 55\%$ ). His total gain is \$30,800 (\$118,278 - \$87,478 partnership basis).

Filled in tax forms. See the filled in tax forms starting on page 28-20 for the partnership and Nate's tax returns filed as a result of the scenario described in this example.

Before you check Box D, E, or F below, see whether you received any Form(s) 1099-B or substitute statement(s) from your broker. A substitute statement will have the same information as Form 1099-B. Either will show whether your basis (usually your cost) was reported to the IRS by your broker and may even tell you which box to check.

Part II Long-Term. Transactions involving capital assets you held more than 1 year are generally long-term (see instructions). For short-term transactions, see page 1.

Note: You may aggregate all long-term transactions reported on Form(s) 1099-B showing basis was reported to the IRS and for which no adjustments or codes are required. Enter the totals directly on Schedule D, line 8a; you aren't required to report these transactions on Form 8949 (see instructions).

You must check Box D, E, or F below. Check only one box. If more than one box applies for your long-term transactions, complete a separate Form 8949, page 2, for each applicable box. If you have more long-term transactions than will fit on this page for one or more of the boxes, complete as many forms with the same box checked as you need.

(D) Long-term transactions reported on Form(s) 1099-B showing basis was reported to the IRS (see Note above)

(E) Long-term transactions reported on Form(s) 1099-B showing basis wasn't reported to the IRS

(F) Long-term transactions not reported to you on Form 1099-B

Before you check Box D, E, or F below, see whether you received any Form(s) 1099-B or substitute statement(s) from your broker. A substitute statement will have the same information as Form 1099-B. Either will show whether your basis (usually your cost) was reported to the IRS by your broker and may even tell you which box to check.

Part II Long-Term. Transactions involving capital assets you held more than 1 year are generally long-term (see instructions). For short-term transactions, see page 1.

Note: You may aggregate all long-term transactions reported on Form(s) 1099-B showing basis was reported to the IRS and for which no adjustments or codes are required. Enter the totals directly on Schedule D, line 8a; you aren't required to report these transactions on Form 8949 (see instructions).

You must check Box D, E, or F below. Check only one box. If more than one box applies for your long-term transactions, complete a separate Form 8949, page 2, for each applicable box. If you have more long-term transactions than will fit on this page for one or more of the boxes, complete as many forms with the same box checked as you need.

- (D) Long-term transactions reported on Form(s) 1099-B showing basis was reported to the IRS (see Note above)
- (E) Long-term transactions reported on Form(s) 1099-B showing basis wasn't reported to the IRS
