What's New

Main Street Business Tax Credit – For the taxable year beginning on or after January 1, 2020, and before January 1, 2021, a Main Street Small Business Tax Credit is available to a qualified small business employer that received a tentative tax credit reservation from the California Department of Tax and Fee Administration (CDTFA). The credit is equal to $1,000 for each net increase in qualified employees. The credit cannot exceed $100,000 for any qualified small business employer. A qualified small business employer, among other requirements, must have met the following requirements:

- As of December 31, 2019, employed a total of 100 or fewer employees.
- Had a 50% decrease in gross receipts from April 1, 2020, through June 30, 2020, compared to the gross receipts from April 1, 2019, through June 30, 2019.

The Main Street Small Business Tax Credit must be claimed on a timely filed original tax return. The taxpayer cannot be included, required to file as, or authorized to be included in a combined report under Revenue Taxation Code Sections 25101, 25110, or 25101.15. Taxpayers made an irrevocable election to apply the credit to either sales and use tax, or income tax when they applied for the credit. Only use this form if you elected to apply this credit to income tax.

General Information

A Tentative Credit Reservation

An employer was required to obtain a tentative credit reservation from the CDTFA between December 1, 2020, and January 15, 2021, which included a tentative credit reservation number. If you did not receive a tentative credit reservation from the CDTFA you cannot claim this credit. For more information, go to cdtfa.ca.gov.

B Limitations

The taxpayer must reduce any wage deduction claimed on their income tax returns by the amount of the Main Street Small Business Tax Credit allowed for the 2020 taxable year, including any credit carried forward to future years.

S corporations may claim only 1/3 of the credit against the 1.5% entity level tax (3.5% for financial S corporations). The remaining 2/3 must be disregarded and may not be used as a carryover. S corporations can pass through 100% of the credit to their shareholders.

If a taxpayer owns an interest in a disregarded business entity [a single member limited liability company (SMLLC) not recognized by California, and for tax purposes is treated as a sole proprietorship owned by an individual or a branch owned by a corporation], the usable credit amount received from the disregarded entity is limited to the difference between the taxpayer's regular tax figured with the income of the disregarded entity, and the taxpayer's regular tax figured without the income of the disregarded entity.

Get Form 568, Limited Liability Company Tax Booklet, for more information.

This credit cannot reduce the regular tax below the minimum franchise tax (corporations and S corporations), the annual tax (limited partnerships, limited liability partnerships, and LLCs classified as a partnership), the alternative minimum tax (corporations, exempt organizations, individuals, and fiduciaries), the built-in gains tax (S corporations), or the excess net passive income tax (S corporations).

This credit cannot reduce regular tax below the tentative minimum tax. Get Schedule P (100, 100W, 540, 540NR, or 541), Alternative Minimum Tax and Credit Limitations, for more information.

C Carryover

If the available credit exceeds the current year tax liability or is limited by tentative minimum tax, the unused credit may be carried over for five years or until the credit is exhausted, whichever occurs first. Apply the carryover to the earliest taxable year. In no event can the credit be carried back and applied against a prior year's tax. Retain all records that document this credit and carryovers. The FTB may require access to these records.
